BMJ.2014.022376.R5 - Restoring Study 329: A randomised, controlled trial of the efficacy and harms of paroxetine and imipramine in the treatment of adolescent major depression

Dear Prof. Jureidini:

One additional matter that I forgot to include in the requests in the decision letter.

On page 142 of 149 you say your analyses support the idea of drug dependence and withdrawal effects. I don't see convincing evidence of that in the paper. In any case, that also goes beyond the objectives of the original study or this reanalysis and should be removed.

Thanks!
